ABOUT THE PROGRAMME

Data centre investment has gained momentum across Asia, driven by growing demand for digital infrastructure and increasing investment by technology companies, investors and infrastructure developers. As the sector continues to evolve, capital market professionals are required to keep abreast of market developments, project considerations, financing structures and credit considerations that influence investment and financing decisions.

This programme offers practical insights into the data centre sector from market, project and financing perspectives. Participants will examine regional market developments and growth drivers, together with key considerations in the planning, development and operation of data centre projects. The programme further covers global data centre financing structures, key trends and challenges across regional and mature markets, credit considerations and trends in rated issuances and financing structures, including developments and expectations for data centre financing in APAC and Malaysia.
